On Thursday morning state and local officials cut the ribbon and officially opened a section of the Wilbur Road Old Champlain Canal Towpath. Planning and work on the project have been taking place since 2006 when the Town of Saratoga purchased the property from Saratoga County. The approximately ½ mile long trail located on over 6 acres of land is fully handicapped assessable and offers hikers an opportunity to see the undisturbed old Champlain Canal that is currently filled with an abundance of wildlife. The Wilbur Road section is the first piece of several for which the long range vision is a continuous trail connecting Waterford to Whitehall. The work on the trail was made possible from a grant obtained through the New York State Canal Corporation Erie Canal Greenway Grant Program.
